

Fighting Against a Double Pandemic: Anti-Asian Racism, COVID-19, and the Role of Asian American Churches

Eunil David Cho, Ph.D. (he/him/his)
Visiting Assistant Professor of Pastoral
Theology and Care
Louisville Institute Postdoctoral Fellow
Brite Divinity School at Texas Christian
University

Interview - Lecture - Debate

Mittwoch 08.12.2021 16:15-17:45 Uhr

JOHANNES GUTENBERG
UNIVERSITÄT MAINZ

In the age of COVID-19, Asian Americans have fought against a double pandemic: anti-Asian racism and Coronavirus disease. But connections between diseases, racism, and xenophobia are not new in the history of Asian America. By reflecting on the recent racially motivated shootings that took place in Atlanta, Georgia, the presentation reflects on the role of Asian American faith communities in response to this traumatic event and the ongoing surge of the double pandemic in America.

Den Link erhalten Sie über patock@uni-mainz.de

