The genesis and development of Minjung theology shows changes in theological responses and reflections on the reality of Minjung and their movements in Korean modern history. Minjung theology has passed through three main stages. I analyze the ways in which Minjung theology has embraced Marxism at different stages of its development.

Prof. em. Dr. Kang Won-Don is a theologian representing the second stage of Minjung theology and has developed a materialist theology through combining Minjung theology and Marxism. As professor ordinarius at Hanshin University he has taught Minjung theology and social ethics.
